Amanda Cross

Crosswise Consulting
765-606-5654

amanda@crosswiseconsulting.com

Amanda Cross is the owner of Crosswise Consulting, experts in the processes and tools behind documentation, training, and any other written words companies create. When describing it to people she wants to impress, Amanda says “Crosswise Consulting helps companies to design and execute strategies that make the flow of their content across all departments and out to clients efficient and repeatable.”

This is true but it makes it sound a lot loftier than it really is. Most of the time, Crosswise team members are just busy writing anything and everything: user guides, training materials, blog posts, knowledgebase solutions, Wikipedia articles, and whatever else the client needs.

Before beginning Crosswise Consulting in 2012, Amanda had worked in the field of technical communication for over 10 years at various Indiana software companies. She developed a reputation for making the technical communication department central to the functioning of the company so it would be harder to outsource.

Amanda holds a BA in professional writing from Purdue University and an MBA from the Kelley School of Business. She is very interested in improving workplace opportunities for women, and not just because she is one herself.
